PUTZ AROUND TOWN

Playing with fire

At a recent party given by NAWIC, Terri Pasley, Orion Construction, wanted to make sure the lighting was correct for nighttime hours of the party and got tiki torches to fill the bill. As the sun set, she felt it was the perfect time to create the ambiance by lighting a torch – not noticing the wick was way too long – and it went up in flames.

About 20 or so ladies began shouting advice to Terri on handling the situation, from a very safe distance of course. Susan Burrier tried pouring on salt, which did not work, but a brave Sandee Morgan finally put out the flames with aluminum foil.

You girls gotta quit playing with fire.
